Aditya Pratap Singh (Arjun Kapoor) is a rich, carefree guy who has an emotional love story with his ex-girlfriend Surpanakha (Sonam Kapoor). Surpankha marries Sultan Ahmed (Mohit Ahlawat), a very rich business tycoon and leaves Aditya hear tbroken. She joins her husband in Paris. Aditya has a very strange behavioural pattern – he doesn't like anyone to feel attached or close to him, or to even dream about their future together – before he gets married. He hates the word 'love'. His personal motto is "I hate love". His friend Mayank (Parambrata Chatterjee) tells him that he should not let himself get into any other kind of relationship until he gets married to Surpankha. He, then, falls in love with Geet (Alia Bhatt), a BPO employee. He has a dream about their life together and they even move together to America, but she tells him that she's not ready for marriage and wants to focus on her career. She also points out that she does love him but feels constrained because of his attitude towards relationships and marriages in general. Adi suffers from cluster headaches which bring him to the brink of suicide. During this time he has a dream about himself and Surpanakha going to a café. He wakes up from this dream and calls her. They meet again and he confesses his love for her. In Paris, Sultan catches them at a party and attacks Aditya. In the scuffle, Aditya pushes Sultan Ahmed Mohit Ahlawat as Sultan Ahmed Parambrata Chatterjee as Mayank Sinha
